When it comes to flying with children, sending your little one on a solo trip can be a big step for both you and your child. To ensure that unaccompanied minors are well cared for during their flight, Delta Airlines offers a special service designed to prioritize their safety, comfort, and well-being. Of course, this service comes with an additional fee, so you might be wondering, "How much is the Delta unaccompanied minor fee?" Let's break it down for you!

In this blog, we'll cover everything you need to know about Delta's unaccompanied minor policy, the fee, and how to contact customer service if you need help with your booking.

Delta Airlines Unaccompanied Minor

Delta Airlines offers a dedicated unaccompanied minor service for children traveling alone, designed to ensure their safety and provide extra support throughout their journey. This service is available for children ages 5 to 14 who are flying without an adult companion.

What Is Delta's Policy on Unaccompanied Minors?

Delta's unaccompanied minor policy is built around the idea of giving both parents and children peace of mind while traveling alone. Here's an overview of what the policy covers:

Age Requirements: The unaccompanied minor service is available for children 5 through 14 years old. If your child is 15 or older, they are not considered an unaccompanied minor and can fly without the added supervision.

Nonstop Flights Are Preferred: Delta recommends booking nonstop flights for unaccompanied minors to minimize the risk of complications during layovers. If your child has a connecting flight, Delta's staff will escort them between flights and ensure a smooth transfer.

Airport Assistance: A Delta representative will meet your child at check-in, escort them through security, and ensure they get to the gate safely.

In-Flight Supervision: Once onboard, flight attendants are specially trained to monitor unaccompanied minors, providing extra care and ensuring they're comfortable throughout the flight.

Arrival Assistance: When the flight arrives at its destination, your child will only be handed over to the designated adult you've listed during booking. The designated adult must show valid identification before the child is released.

How Much Is the Delta Unaccompanied Minor Fee?

The Delta unaccompanied minor fee typically ranges from $150 to $200 per one-way flight. The fee is charged in addition to the cost of the child's ticket and covers the added services for the child's safety and comfort throughout their journey.

The fee includes:

Airport Assistance: Delta staff will help your child through every step of the airport process—from check-in to security to boarding.

In-Flight Supervision: Flight attendants will look after your child during the flight, ensuring they're safe and well taken care of.

Arrival Escort: When the flight lands, your child will be escorted off the plane and handed over to the designated adult at the arrival gate.

The exact amount of the fee may vary depending on the flight route and whether it's domestic or international. For more specific details or to confirm the fee for your child's flight, you can reach out to Delta's customer service at 1-877-908-6960.
